

Cancer Answerline

A secretary asks: "Can you give me some concrete guidance about whether or not a woman should have mammography? I read recently some frightening news stories that said that mammography can cause cancer. I then cancelled my appointment to have it done."

ANSWERline: Many women have "cancelled appointments" because of understandable confusion resulting from a decision to limit routine mammographic screening of women without symptoms to those women over 50. This is because of the slight possibility that a younger woman might develop breast cancer 20 or 30 years after routine mammographic x-rays are done. There is absolutely no question of the importance of routine mammography for women over 50. Mammography can find possible breast cancer in an extremely early stage when it is most easily and successfully treated. And breast cancer risk increases with age. Mammography is also important for women under 50 who have certain physical conditions or risk factors. The decision to have mammography must always reflect careful discussion between a woman and her physician.

A photographer writes: "Because I am a free-lance worker, I have some time to call my own. I would like to do volunteer work for American Cancer Society, but I want to do something meaningful. What can you suggest?"

ANSWERline: The suggestions you request could fill many columns because your local ACS Unit has need of volunteers with different talents, interests and available time schedules. You might volunteer to drive cancer patients to treatment centers or you might run a quit-smoking clinic at a high school. You might use your photography skills to publicize ACS events or you might answer telephone calls from people in your community with cancer-related problems. You might organize a free Pap test clinic at a health fair, or might run an employee education program in a factory. The ACS needs you and will be happy to tailor a volunteer spot "just for you."

Senior Class Meeting

By RON MENEFFEE
The Kent City Senior Class held a meeting on Wednesday January 5, 1977, for the purpose of choosing class colors (for graduation caps and gowns), motto, flower and song.
The results of the voting were red and white for class colors. The class motto will be: "Challenge us and we accept it. Give us something to work for and we will blossom, expand and achieve. But first, give us the challenge." The Beatles composition "Yesterday" was named as the class song. The class flower is a carnation.

VA Immediate Release

The Veterans Administration today reminded men and women recently separated from military service to double check veterans' benefits for which they may qualify as well as deadlines that may govern eligibility.

New veterans who have been discharged under conditions other than dishonorable are routinely sent a VA summary of key benefits.

Subsequent communications from VA supply new veterans with certificates of eligibility for GI loans on homes, condominiums and mobile homes and with facts on government insurance and education programs.

In addition, veterans may want to note the following things to do:

Register with the nearest state employment service office as soon as possible after discharge as employment benefits vary from state to state.

Apply to former employers within 90 days for reemployment. Veterans have certain preferences.

Convert Servicemen's Group Life Insurance to five-year Veterans' Group Life Insurance within 120 days. It was noted that those veterans totally disabled have up to a year to convert. Applications should be mailed to Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington Street, Newark, N. J. 07102.

Within a year from date of VA disability rating, eligible veterans should apply for special National Service Life Insurance based on service-connected disability.

Tone-Up

By LORI SCHUTTER

Muscle building is now the subject of a certain group of students at K.C.H.S. After school on every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday these people are in the gym weight training. Most of the 10 to 15 people are of the male sex. As it stands there are only three girls lifting regularly. Students weight training are mostly involved in track and football, but there are a few that are out just to stay in shape.

This activity is being coordinated by Mr. Walt Schultze and Mr. Sid Smith. They stated that they would like to see more people out, but mostly girls. Mr. Schultze stated that the average person, going out for sports needs a little extra going for him because of the tight competition in high school athletics.

It is strictly a voluntary activity. Students are not required to lift on every day possible. For example, there are approximately 25 people who signed up and have lifted at least once or more. Now, there are on the average of 10 to 15 people nightly.

Mr. Schultze and Mr. Smith would like to see more people take advantage of this opportunity. Everyone is welcome to come and lift!
