

Eagles stay close in conference battle

By JIM EMERY

Whoever made the banner on the visiting side of the gym last Friday which read, "Fly South Eagles Before It's Too Late", apparently didn't know that Eagles don't migrate. The host Kent City Eagles outscored Morley-Stanwood 78-60 in their last game of the first round in N.C.A.A. play. This win kept the Eagles in second place with a 6-1 conference mark, 8-2 overall, behind unbeaten White Cloud, who narrowly defeated Grant Friday, 50-48.

First quarter action was fast paced and the Eagles took a quick 12-6 edge in the first three and a half minutes. Behind Dan Afton's nine points and Brian Layer's eight, Kent City led at the end of the period 25-13.

The second quarter showed both teams shooting poorly until halfway through the period when Morley-Stanwood came within eight points of the Eagles, 29-21. John Doane got Kent City's offense going again with three quick buckets and a free throw before turnovers cut the lead to seven. Baskets by Afton and Doug Weston in the closing seconds allowed the Eagles to lead 42-31 at halftime.

The Eagles outscored the Mohawks 16-10 the third period mainly behind Jason Johnson's excellent rebounding and six points. Johnson, playing his finest game this season, ended the contest with ten points and eleven rebounds.

The final eight minutes saw Kent City open a 20 point margin, their largest of the night, 70-50 with 4:36 left in the quarter. Behind Gary Flegel's nine points the Eagles ended the match, winners by 18 points.

Statistically Kent City led in all departments but one. The Eagles out-rebounded the Mohawks 66-32, and shot 60 percent from the line compared to Morley's paltry 22. The one department in which the Eagles didn't lead, however, was in field goal percentage. Here, Morley edged-out the host team 42.4 to 40.5 per cent, resulting largely from Al Reickard's game high 26 points.

In what had to be the Eagles' most balanced performance this year, Layer scored 16 points, Afton 15, Weston 14, Johnson 10, Flegel nine and Doane eight. Other impressive figures showed Layer with eight assists, Weston with four steals and Doane, following Johnson, with ten rebounds.

The Eagles played North Muskegon Tuesday and will host tri-County this Friday to start second round action.

K.C. edges Hesperia

By GARY FLEGEL

In J.V. basketball action at Hesperia last Tuesday, January 11, Kent City defeated the Panthers 40-37. This win upped the Eagles' conference record to 4-2.

Both teams had trouble finding their mark in the opening quarter as missed layups were the rule. Kent City did manage to grab a 6-4 first quarter lead, however, and extended it to 21-11 at halftime.

Sitting on a 35-25 third quarter lead, Kent City decided to quit pressing the Panthers. But Hesperia proved this a wrong move as they ran off ten unanswered points in the first four minutes of the fourth quarter to tie the game. The Eagles quickly returned to their press and outscored Hesperia by a five to two margin the rest of the game.

Steve Johnson led the Eagles in scoring with 16 points. Mike Southwell was next with nine, hitting on seven of nine free throw attempts.

Dan Kragt, Mike Southwell and Steve Johnson each tied for the lead in rebounds with seven caroms apiece.

A year in the White House

By DEB JENSEN

On January 20, 1977 the White House will have a fresh new tenant. The new occupant will be President elect Jimmy Carter.

While visiting the White House you might hear White House personnel say, "Can I help you sir? Would you like anything else m'aam? These are just a few familiar phrases someone might hear while living in the White House. It is a place of rare beauty and a house with many caretakers.

Sometimes one could hear people say, "I wish I had half the money in Washington," or "I wish I lived in the White House." Sure people say things like that but do they really mean it? Some probably do, but others don't.

Living in the White House mansion would certainly be an experience to remember, with all the fine paintings on the walls, the different types of furniture, and the many assistants helping you extensively.

Kent City High School junior, Craig Backer, would like to live there very much. "You could meet many new politicians and other government figures."

Another high school junior, Brian Layer, would

Eagles move into second

By JIM EMERY

For the third time this year, Brian Layer scored more than 20 points, tallying 21 as he led Kent City over host Hesperia, January 11. This 56-43 win upped the Eagle record to 5-1 in the conference, and moved them into second place by themselves after Grant lost to Newaygo 61-56 on the same night.

Kent City hit on 50 per cent of their floor shots during the first quarter, behind Layer's eight points. The Eagles led 19-12 at the end of the first period.

When Kent City outscored the Panthers 13-4 the second period, it looked as if it might be an easy victory for the Eagles, who held a 2-1 scoring margin at halftime.

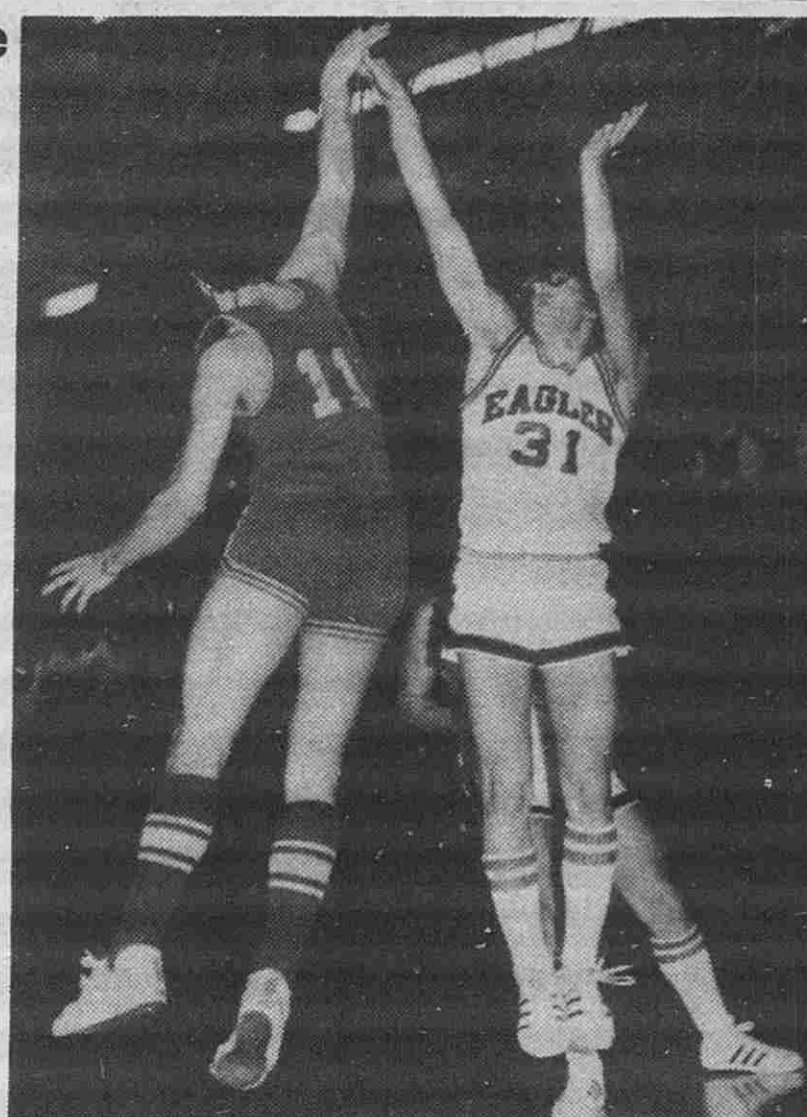

However, after the intermission the Eagles' defense slackened and they shot only 23 per cent from the floor. This allowed the Panthers to take the scoring edge 20-12 for the third period.

The final quarter was low scoring and the Eagles improved their percentage to 44, while also outscoring the host team 12-7.

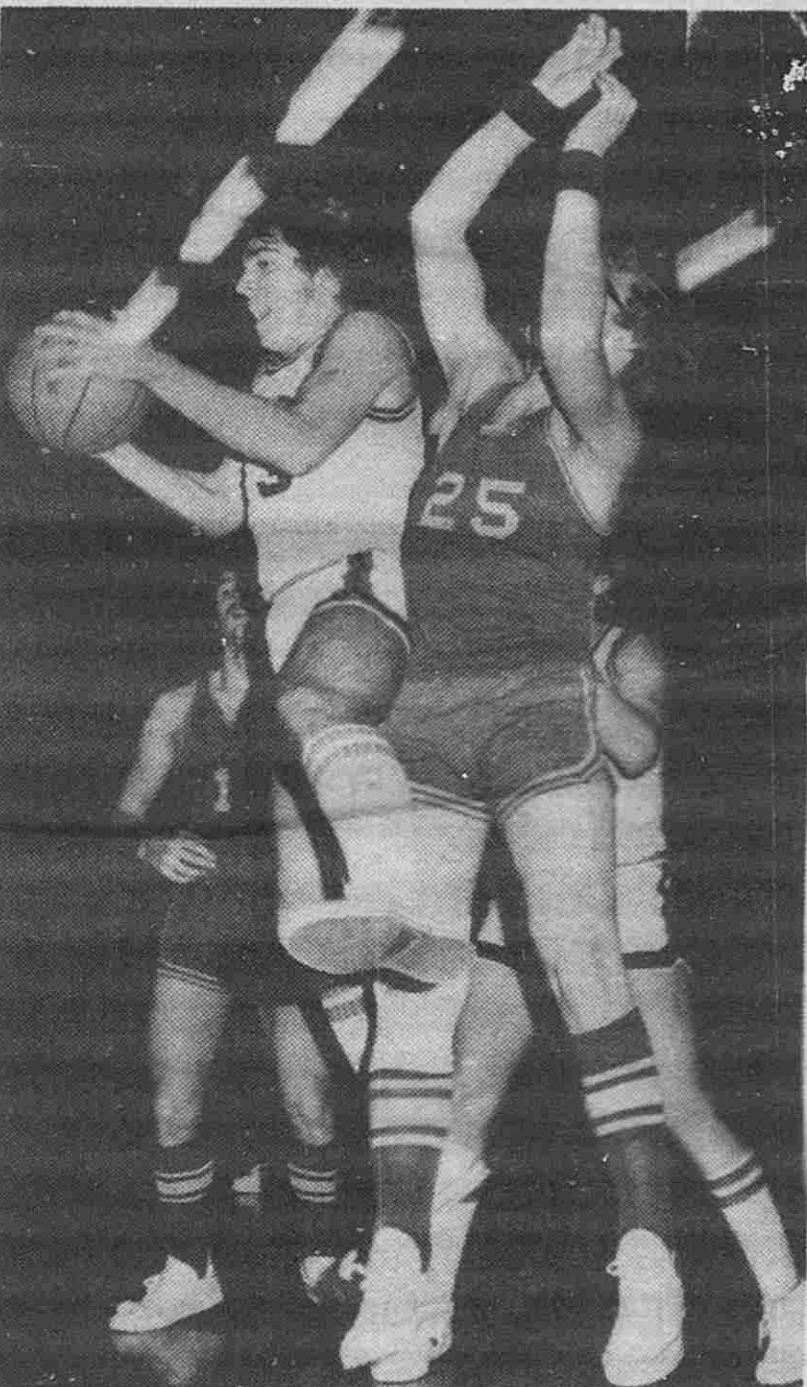

"Our defense wasn't bad until the third quarter," remarked Coach Sarachman, "but our offense was kind of sluggish and never really got going."

Even though their offense could never get going, eight of twelve Eagles scored in the game marred by only 21 personal fouls total.

Jason Johnson and Doug Weston led the rebounding department as they each hauled in nine. Dan Afton led the team in assists with six, while Harry Kukla managed three steals.

The Eagles' John Doane [13] pulls down one of his ten rebounds last Friday. Mike Thon [25] of the Mohawks came up short, as did his teammates, for Kent City won 78-60.

Close-Up

By VICKIE PASSMORE

On Tuesday, January 4, 1977, Kent City High School's Close-Up program held a meeting. Topics discussed at the meeting were finances, money raising projects, and the state close-up program.

Close-up students are seeking donations that will be used for their big raffle. It will be held at the last home league varsity basketball game of this season. Other money raising projects planned are cake raffles and the coat check.

On February second and third, eighteen members of the close-up program will attend a state program. The first day will be spent in Grand Rapids. In the morning the students will hear a speaker from Washington D.C., speaking on foreign relations. Then in the afternoon, they will divide into groups and listen to various speakers from the state legislature.

The second day the students will board busses, and travel to Lansing, where they will see the state legislature in action, talk to Governor Milliken, visit state courts, and possibly visit the state police.

There are many different types of people. Each has his own reply for the question, "How would you as a Kent City student feel living in the White House for a year?" How would you answer the question?
