

For WEST MICHIGAN

Sportsmen

together and come up with a tongue in cheek solution for Michigan's problem with pesky starlings, grackles and blackbirds. They are suggesting that these problem birds be reclassified as game bird, giving them new names to fit their new status.

By renaming them "needlenosed doves" or "long-tailed quail" they could be sought after by hunters, thereby helping to keep their populations in check. Biologists build up the new idea by painting the birds as "fast fliers, difficult to hit and tasty on a dining table!"

Red Letter Events for January

The following is a list of dates for sportsmen to circle on their January outdoor calendar:

Jan. 28—Crow season ends in Lower Peninsula.

Jan. 31—Mink and muskrat trapping season ends in southern Lower Michigan. Raccoon season ends statewide. Woodchuck hunting no longer legal in Lower Peninsula.

DID YOU KNOW that pheasants were first released in Michigan in 1895 near Holland, and the state's first pheasant hunting season was in 1925?

PANFISHING GOOD
Ice fishing for bluegill and specks has been good to date throughout the West Michigan area. Here's a rundown on some of the better lakes in our region.

MONTCALM COUNTY: Crystal, Cowden and Little Whitefish lakes are all sporting fine catches.

IONIA COUNTY: Fishermen here report good success on Jordan, Tupper and Morrison lakes.

KENT COUNTY: Your best bets here seem to be with Camp, Reeds, Wabasis, Campau and Lincoln lakes.

OTTAWA COUNTY: Try Stearn's, Bruce's, Lloyd's and Pottowattomie bayous.

MUSKEGON COUNTY: White and Muskegon lakes both yielding fine catches of panfish.

ALLEGAN COUNTY: Sheffer, Swan and Lake Sixteen all good.

BARRY COUNTY: Try Fine, Jordan, Hall and Gun lakes.

Pike fishing is also beginning to pick up in our area. Anglers report good northern fishing on Pigeon Lake in Ottawa County; Muskegon and White lakes in Muskegon County; Long Lake in Ionia County; Dickerson and Crystal lakes in Montcalm County; Green and Selkirk in Allegan County; Lincoln Lake in Kent County and Gun Lake in Barry County.

Farther north we find good perch and walleye fishing on the Hardy and Croton ponds in Newaygo County and good pike and bluegill fishing on Hess Lake also in Newaygo County. Good pike and walleye fishing also reported on Lakes Cadillac and Mitchell in Wexford County.

Best baits for panfish have been wax worms and corn borers with red or yellow teardrop hooks. Pike and walleye are being taken on live chubs and frozen smelt.
