Eagle's stops Norsemen

In J.V. basketball action last Tuesday, January 18, Kent city traveled to North Muskegon's home court and came away with a 44-28 victory tucked under their belts.

After fighting to a 14-12 first quarter lead Kent City came out of their press and outscored the Norsemen 15-4. Dan Kragt, Steve Johnson and Doug Jensen provided most of the Eagles firepower as they combined for 13 of the Eagles' 15 points.

After halftime Kent City still utilized their strong defense as they held North Muskegon to six points in each of the last two quarters. But the Eagles also had problems with their offense as it only managed eight points the third quarter and seven the fourth.

The big reason for the Eagle victory was that Kent City only committed five personal fouls the entire game. North Muskegon was allowed only two free throws, those coming in the fourth quarter, and they made both. Conversely, Kent City made ten of their 12 free throws outscoring North Muskegon by eight points in this critical area of the game.

Kent City managed the win despite the absence of Jim Stebbins, due to a sprained ankle. Stebbins is one of their top scorers, averaging 9.4 points a game this season.

Steve Johnson led the Eagles in scoring as he pumped in 14 points. Dan Kragt was next on the Eagle's scoring list with ten.
