Vocational Rehab

The State of Michigan, Department of Education, Vocational Rehabilitation Service now has a representative in Sparta every Wednesday afternoon to assist disabled or otherwise impaired individuals in obtaining rehabilitation and employment. Appointments can be made for any Wednesday afternoon at the Sparta Community Center at Balyeat Field, 210 Olmstead St. in Sparta by calling 887-8663.

The man on the job here is Thomas M. Fryc, (pronounced Frick). Tom is married, has two sons, and has been a resident of Sparta for two and a half years. He obtained his B.A. degree from Wayne State University in 1969 majoring in psychology, and his M.A. from the same school in 1972 majoring in guidance and counseling. He has been employed by the Vocational Rehabilitation Service since 1969, and was promoted to Unit Supervisor in 1975.

Vocational Rehabilitation has a primary objective of assisting individuals who have a physical and/or emotional problem which prevents them from obtaining gainful employment. This may involve a person who is already working, who is in danger of losing his job because of a physical or emotional problem, or someone who is not able to obtain work for the same reasons.

A wide range of disabilities are served, from visual and hearing problems, orthopedic problems, neurological disorders, mental illness and mental retardation.

Some of the services provided include medical and psychological evaluation, vocational counseling and guidance, physical restoration, training, transportation, job placement and follow-up. These services are available to all Kent County residents of an employable age.

For further information, call Tom Fryc at 459-9128.
