After saying her evening prayer — "Now I lay me down to sleep. I pray Thee, Lord, my soul to keep. If I should die before I wake, I pray Thee, Lord, my soul to take" — Sybil always added this postscript: "Help so nothing don't get us. Help so the house don't burn down." Years later, we recall her childhood prayer with amusement.

Fear is an unpleasant thing. Many people are afraid of the dark and the perils which they suspect lurk in the blackness of night.

To be able to lie down in safety is the Christian's privilege. His life belongs to God. Should anything happen to him before he awakens, his soul will go to be with his Maker forever in a place of eternal bliss. The Christian's material possessions belong to God, also. Therefore, the loss of temporal things through fire or theft is not the end of living for him. Within the heart of the surrendered Christian there is a yieldingness to his Father's will. From his heart he can pray, "Let the Lord do as it seems best to Him," and, "Now I lay me down to sleep — in safety."

Prayer: Dear Lord, my life belongs to Thee and to Thee alone. All that I have is thine; Thou hast only lent it to me. I surrender my life and possessions into Thy keeping. I rest in the wonder of Thy love. Amen.
